

EUROPEAN-AMERICAN EVANGELISTIC CRUSADES

IS OSAMA BIN LADEN DEAD?

By John S. Torell

Did Osama bin Laden really die on May 1st, 2011? Some people have contacted our ministry asking this question and I have decided to write a response that will be posted on our website. First of all, I want to state that from 1975-1990, our ministry worked very closely with a Christian pastor from Pakistan. He came to the Sacramento area at least 20 times and preached in our church. As I spent time with him in our home, he shared many things about the situation in Pakistan at that time. He told me that Pakistan was a police state and as a Christian, this pastor and his group were watched by the police with constant harassment from the Muslim community. The Pakistani intelligence services keep a very tight control over the people in Pakistan and my pastor friend told me that few things could happen of which the authorities were not aware. Pakistan is not a third world nation when it comes to its intelligence operations, and I am going to list the different agencies in Pakistan. A police state cannot exist unless it has a large security apparatus and Pakistan is spending millions and millions of dollars on these intelligence agencies.

THE FEDERAL INVESTIGATION AGENCY (FIA)

“The FIA is charged with the investigation of violations of most Federal Criminal Laws and protecting Pakistan from foreign intelligence and terrorist activities. It also provides services to other law enforcement agencies, including Fingerprint Identification, Laboratory Analysis of criminal evidence, Police training, and access to a Centralized Crime information database. Because of its broad mandate, the FIA is one of the most multidimensional and significant agencies in the Government. The Agency traces its origins to 1974, when the (late) Prime Minister Mr. Zulfikar Ali Bhutto conceived and created a new Law Enforcement Agency on the pattern of America’s (FBI) Federal Bureau of Investigation. The old name of FIA was ‘Special Police Establishment’ that traces its origin from 1947. The present name and formation came into being in 1974.”¹

THE INTER-SERVICES INTELLIGENCE (ISI)

“The Directorate for Inter-Services Intelligence (more commonly known as Inter-Services Intelligence or simply by its initials ISI) is Pakistan’s premier intelligence agency. It is the largest of the three intelligence agencies of Pakistan.

ISI was established as an independent intelligence agency in 1948 in order to strengthen the sharing of military intelligence between the three branches of Pakistan’s armed forces in the aftermath of the Indo-Pakistani War of 1947, which had exposed weaknesses in intelligence gathering, sharing and coordination between the Pakistan Army, Air Force and Navy.

¹ http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/List_of_Pakistani_intelligence_agencies

ISI's headquarters are situated in Islamabad. It is currently headed by Lieutenant General Ahmad Shuja Pasha, who took over as ISI's Director in September 2008."²

The Military Intelligence Services

In Pakistan Defense Forces, the Military Intelligence (also known as M.I.), is a Pakistan Defense Forces intelligence agency and it is responsible for the military intelligence services in Pakistan. It also refers specifically to the intelligence components of the Pakistan Armed Forces. The MI directorate is composed of Air Intelligence (AI) of Air Force, Naval Intelligence (Navy), Army Intelligence (Pakistan Army), and the Directorate for Marine Intelligence of the Marines. However, the M.I. is part of the Army and reports directly to the Chief of Army Staff. And, the Army has appointed its officers to lead the agency. Pakistan's Military Intelligence (MI) is one of the three main intelligence services in Pakistan. MI is tasked with operations, identifying and eliminating sleeper cells, foreign agents and other anti-Pakistani elements within Pakistan. The M.I. is currently headed by Army's 2 star general Major-General Naushad Ahmed Kayani."³

My pastor friend had a large tract of land where they had a church building, school buildings and living quarters for themselves and for some of the staff. Nothing could be built without permits from the city in which they lived and there were inspections during the construction time as well as a final inspection. No one could build anything unless they had approval for the buildings and their intended use. Such a large compound where Osama bin Laden supposedly lived could not have been built without the intelligence community having been notified.

AFGHANISTAN

I want to examine the official version from the United States government on how the raid was carried out to kill Osama Bin Laden. We are told that the Navy Seal team flew out from a base in Afghanistan. Since the Pakistani intelligence services have agents which have infiltrated the American bases in Afghanistan, it was noted by intelligence agents that a group of helicopters took off during the night. Since the Pakistani government has been complaining about American raids into Pakistan, it must have been noted that these helicopters were flying toward Pakistan.

ENTERING PAKISTANI AIR SPACE

The compound where Osama Bin Laden supposedly lived was located within the city limit of Abbottabad. This is a city located in a military zone containing the Pakistan officer training academy and is also home to a Pakistani regiment. This area has a security system that is covered with radar installations, anti-aircraft batteries and constant patrols of police and military with military checkpoints which are constantly manned. Just like in any city in the United States, the police department does not shut down during the night; there are night patrols where squad cars drive around in the city. This compound was not located in an isolated area but had other buildings around it.

² Ibid

³ Ibid

THE OBAMA STORY

The helicopters were able to evade all Pakistani radar and slip into the city and land inside the compound. No one in the city heard the helicopters, and even if they did, there still was no action taken. Even if the special forces of the United States have quiet helicopters, they are still loud, particularly during the night when it is quiet. No Pakistani police cars were in the area and the soldiers at the checkpoints around the city did not hear or see anything.

As soon as the Navy Seals got out from the choppers, people inside the compound opened fire on them. Gunfire is loud and it must have been heard by the neighbors who lived only a few hundred feet away. Even if the Navy Seals had guns with silencers, the defenders did not.

None of the neighbors heard the firefight, and even if they did, no one called the police. The American media has told us that someone living far away was awakened by the choppers but instead of calling the police he went online to Twitter and tweeted a message that there was a disturbance in his city. The American media made much of this that someone tweeted in “real time” during the night and told people about the noise he was hearing. We are left to conclude that in a city of more than 120,000 people, only one man heard the noise of helicopters, and instead of calling the police, he twittered to his followers?

40 MINUTES

The Navy Seals operated in a city with houses all around them, stayed in the compound for forty minutes during which no police car drove by the compound and none of the neighbors woke up. If they did wake up why didn't anyone call the police? After having killed four people, the Navy Seals rushed into the main house where they found Osama on the second floor in a bedroom with one of his wives. She charged toward one of the Seals and was shot in the leg. Osama had no weapon, but when he resisted arrest, a Seal shot him in the chest and in the head.

According to the official story, one of the choppers was damaged when it landed and could not fly again. Additional choppers were called to come in and rescue the team. In the meantime, the Navy Seals and some CIA operators took their sweet time while they videotaped the bedroom to show the blood on the carpet, the kitchen, medication bottles and the rest of the house.

There were a lot of computers and hard drives laying around and these were all picked up and taken to the helicopter that was still good along with the body of Osama. After having ransacked the compound for 40 minutes, the team boarded the one good helicopter plus other helicopters that had been sent in and left.

No one in the city heard the back-up helicopters coming in and no one heard them fly out. In order to destroy any useful information, the damaged helicopter was set on fire and blown up by the team. No one in the city reacted to this explosion and the team flew out without any difficulty.

BACK IN AFGHANISTAN

As soon as the raiding party came back to the American base in Afghanistan, a coroner took a tissue sample from Osama's corpse in order to conduct a DNA test. In a short time, the coroner announced it was a match and this really was the body of Osama bin Laden. Normally it takes at least a week to do a DNA test. Does the American military have better equipment than the medical community? Where did the military coroner get the family tissue sample to make a comparison?

The media has told the American people that Osama's sister had died in a hospital in Boston some years ago and they preserved her brain so that if Osama was found and killed, a DNA test could be carried out. What about the Muslim tradition of burying the entire body in 24 hours? When was the tissue from the brain flown to Afghanistan?

The United States is not a Muslim nation, and the government has never before taken too much consideration of Muslim traditions when it comes to terrorists who have been caught. Osama was been labeled, "Enemy Number One," and the leader of all terrorists. But the Obama administration gave the order to fly the corpse to an aircraft carrier in the Indian Ocean and give bin Laden a ritual Muslim burial at sea? According to Muslim tradition, this must be done within 24 hours of death, and the American military establishment took care of it with honor? According to the White House, an American Muslim sailor gave the body a ritual bath before it was thrown into the ocean.

OVER TO WASHINGTON D.C.

On May 1st, late Sunday night, Obama called a press conference at the White House and with great fanfare told the press and the live television audience that an Navy Seal team has successfully found Osama bin Laden and killed him. Monday morning the American media geared up all they had, and for the next few days, all the American people heard and saw was the story of killing Osama. Forgotten is the earthquake in Japan with a nuclear power plant melting down. Who cares about the wedding in London or the new war in Libya? Why should the news media cover the tornado disaster in the U.S. which is more than five days old when we can learn all about Osama, where he lived, what he did, about his many wives and children? Plus, we can learn about the legend of the Navy Seals and how they heroically shot an unarmed man!

It doesn't matter whether it's conservative or liberal television media, they are talking about Osama's death and how great it is. Obama's rating shot up eleven points overnight and by Monday most leading Republican senators and congressmen called and congratulated him for a great job. In less than a week, President Barack Hussein Obama has produced his much awaited long form birth certificate and ordered the killing of Osama bin Laden. Isn't he a great president? At ground Zero in New York they were dancing in the streets and singing the praises of Obama. This has been the greatest week since Obama took office for his spin doctors and public relation department at the White House. The television networks have given him free advertisement for his re-election.

President Woodrow Wilson was proud over the sinking of the Lusitania. President Franklin D. Roosevelt had the Pearl Harbor attack, President Lyndon Johnson was second to none with his Tonkin incident, President George W. Bush topped it all with the 9/11 attack so he could start two wars in Afghanistan and Iraq and now President Barack Obama can be proud over his birth certificate and the death of Osama bin Laden.

WHERE ARE THE PICTURES OF THE DEAD BODY?

Someone in the press asked for pictures of Osama's bin Laden's dead body. On May 4th, President Obama told the nation that there will be no picture of the dead body because the Muslim world will start riots that could harm American troops in Iraq and Afghanistan. The media as a good lap dog had their commentators discuss how wise Obama was in making this decision.

A GREAT HOAX?

Look at these facts:

- ❖ At least six helicopters fly into a large city during the night and land in the middle of it. No one takes notice of them.
- ❖ In an area where there are many homes, gunfire breaks out and no one calls the police.
- ❖ Osama bin Laden is killed but his body is disposed of within 24 hours.
- ❖ There are no pictures.
- ❖ The Pakistani intelligence services secure the compound and remove Osama's wives and children to an undisclosed place. No one has seen them; they have vanished!
- ❖ Due to security, the Navy Seal team will not be revealed and there will be no public ceremony at the White House.
- ❖ In a city with tight military and police control, six American helicopters fly in and out without any notice.

Whoever wrote this script for Obama was a better writer than Hans Christian Andersen's "The Emperor's New Clothes."

CONCLUSION

American and European intelligence services reported some eight years ago that Osama bin Laden had died in a hospital in Bahrain. I believe that this helicopter raid was on Abbottabad was made up and that the Pakistani and American intelligence services worked together on this operation. Something big is coming up and this hoax is some kind of cover up for a sinister event that the world will find out about in the future. Whatever is coming down the pipeline, it is not very good.

It is also odd, that the White House press secretary said in a briefing that the original plan was to execute the raid on Saturday, which would have been April 30 in Washington D.C. but May 1 in Pakistan but the raid was postponed twenty-four hours due to bad weather. That means that the raid took place May 1st in Washington D.C. and May 2nd in Pakistan since there is a time difference of nine hours.

May 1st is a Satanic holiday because it was on May 1st, 1776 that Adam Weishaupt officially founded the Illuminati. This day is an official holiday in most European nations and is marked by marches and speeches of communists and socialists. In the old Soviet Union it was a holiday with huge rallies and parades. These communist traditions are still upheld in China and Cuba. Could someone in the occult circles of the United States government chosen this day to announce the death of Osama bin Laden?

If you want to read about a horrible cover up story, look up the sinking of the ferry named “Estonia” in 1994, and the murder of more than 900 passengers and the ensuing cover up and lying by the Swedish and Finish governments. The cold truth is that government leaders in all nations of the world are more than happy to murder people in order to gain more power!

As Christians we need to be alert and to pray and seek the Lord and win the lost for Christ. We cannot trust our elected leaders regardless of their party affiliation nor can we trust the American television evangelists or the mega pastors. Satan has gotten a hold of them all and is working hard to bring the Antichrist to this earth.

KEEP YOUR EYES UPON JESUS!